AMBASSADOR J. WILLIAM MIDDENDORF II

The Honorable J. William Middendorf is a public official, a diplomat, and an author. He has served the United States as its Ambassador to the Netherlands, Ambassador to the Organization of American States, Secretary of the Navy, and Ambassador to the European Communities. He also served as Chairman of the Netherlands-American Amity Trust for 30 years and is a trustee of the Heritage Foundation, a Washington, D.C.-based public policy research institute. William Middendorf is also a painter, composer, and a collector, and this June, the distinguished honoree of the Museum's 2009 Gala — Dutch New York — which celebrates the 400th anniversary of Henry Hudson's voyage of discovery that embarked from the Netherlands and crossed an ocean to a new world.
